125 years since NZ became the first country to give women the vote, who were the women who signed the petition and changed the world and what's their legacy today? (5)

Diversity - Today New Zealand is a multicultural society - one made up of a diverse cultures and each brings with it a different set of values. Back in 1893, that wasn't the case. But Maori women and their status in NZ society was also very different and colonial women looked up to women in the Maori community who had property rights at a time when Pakeha women were still fighting for theirs. Do non-Pakeha women in New Zealand today see and experience life through a different lens, and what does that look like? (5 of 8, RNZ)
